Changing the face of construction is not just about looking different, having a female CEO, or a women-controlled board. Though diversity of thought and services are integral to INTREN, what really sets us apart is being open to new ideas and ways of thinking, and establishing a workplace that represents the communities we serve.

We have created an environment where every employee and their contributions are highly regarded, where employee empowerment and well-being are foremost. From the beginning, INTREN forged unique powerful connections with fellow contractors by partnering with them to get the job done. Whether we’re uplifting other women- and minority-owned businesses through outreach and mentorship, increasing job opportunities for minorities through programs like Chicago-based CONSTRUCT, or getting involved in our local communities, the best way to move forward is by focusing outward.

INTREN works with the nation’s premier utilities to design and build efficient and innovative energy infrastructure to power the growth and economic development of our communities and country. We serve as your trusted partner and work side-by-side to achieve your goals and evolve and adapt to your changing needs.”

LEARN EVEN MORE AT INTREN.COM
INTREN strives to outperform every day to be the measure of excellence in our industry, earning trust as stewards of our customers’ priorities, our communities’ interests, and our company’s success.

It’s about living the values upon which our company was built—safety, integrity, customer focus, and employee empowerment—and never losing sight of our culture of stewardship. It’s about aiming higher, always innovating for our clients, and exceeding expectations, always doing better than the day before.

As one of the largest woman-owned and -operated companies in the utility construction industry, INTREN is a total solutions provider that spans coast-to-coast and continually evolves to bring creative solutions to our customers. We strive to positively impact the world through the services that we provide, ultimately changing the face of construction.

But what does it mean to OutPerform?

EVP of Customer Solutions

I am amazed by the commitment and the passion of our employees. We get letters from all over the country that say, "Your people were professional; they cared for me; they surprised me with their attention to detail; I just have to write and tell you this."

I am inspired by the leadership we have today, and by the people who have looked inside themselves, understood who they are and what they stand for, and made decisions and commitments to do the right thing, time and again and time and again and time and again.
